Whole duration of the Eclipse —	3	22
Quantity eclipsed, $20 \frac{1}{4}$ Digits—Moons Lat. 3 Min.

(31 Sec. S. D.)

The Moon will rise totally Eclipsed at 17 Minutes past six o'clock, when the Sun sets, which will be about half an hour before the middle of the Eclipse. It is celebrated in about 18 Degrees of the Celestial Fishes.

VI. The sixth and last will be of the Sun, a very small Eclipse, on Friday the 26th Day of September, about seven in the Morning, invisible. It is celebrated in about 2 Degrees of the Celestial balance.

THE Dame that lodges in this Tomb,
Had Rachel's Face and Leah's fruitful Womb;
Abigail's Wildom, Sarah's faithful Heart,
Martha's just care, and Mary's better part.

Names and Characters of the seven Planets, so called.

☉ The Sun is not properly a Planet, but of the nature of a fixed Star, and the Planets revolve about him.

☿ Mercury, which moves round the Sun in 87 Days and 23 Hours, and is the nearest Planet to it.

♀ Venus, next above Mercury, moves round the Sun in about 224 Days and 17 Hours.

⊕ The Earth, is next above Venus, and moves round the Sun in about 365 Days and 6 Hours, with a velocity an hundred and twenty times greater than that of a Cannon Ball.

☾ The Moon, which moves round the Earth with a very irregular Ecliptic motion, in about 27 Days and 8 hours, and goes with the Earth round the Sun.

♂ Mars, next above the Earth, moves round the Sun in about 686 Days and 23 Hours.

♃ Jupiter, next above Mars, and the biggest of all the Planets, moves round the Sun in about 4332 Days and 12 hours, and is attended with four Moons.

♄ Saturn, next above Jupiter and near as large, moves round the Sun in about 10759 Days and 7 Hours, which is almost 30 Years, and is attended by five Moons.

Characters of the five Aspects of the Planets.

♌ Conjunction, * Sextile, □ Quartile, △ Trine, ♂ Opposition.

Characters of the Twelve Signs of the Zodiac.

♈ Aries, ♉ Taurus, ♊ Gemini, ♋ Cancer,

THE planet Venus, from the third Day January, will be evening Star to the Nineteenth Day of October; thence Oriental or our Morning Star to the End of the Year.

AMBITION, or a desire of fame, was originally implanted in our nature by our beneficent Creator, to stir up, and push forward the Soul in a glorious and laudable course of Action, by awakening the understanding, enforcing the Will, and making the whole man more vigorous and attentive in the prosecution of his designs. When this principle therefore meets with an honest mind, and great abilities, it does infinite service to the world : On the contrary, when a man only thinks of distinguishing himself without being thus qualified for it, he becomes a very pernicious, or a very ridiculous creature.

Society indeed, is little concern'd in the ill effects of Ambition in an honest man of no abilities, who, for the most part pursues his empty dreams with vexation and anxiety ; and instead of the fame he flattered himself with, reaps nothing but painful disappointment or the cold consolation of a contemptuous pity. But how terrible is ambition in the breast of a man of great abilities, who, conceiving himself born to act in a higher orb, thirsts for power on the narrow principles of self aggrandisement ? this kind of ambition knows no bounds, it rages, it betrays, it undermines, and killing the natural sentiments of love to friends and country, tramples under foot every thing sacred and civil that opposes its pursuit of power and dominion.

On the contrary, the honest ambitious man of abilities, breathing love to mankind in general, and with the particular interests of his own country, plans with wisdom, and pursues with vigour, his patriotic and public spirited schemes ; centering at the same time, all his desires of fame in the approbation of the Supreme Being, not doubting but the time will come, when the rewarder of virtue, who sees every degree of perfection in others, and possesses all possible perfection in himself, shall proclaim his worth before men and angels. and pronounce to him in the presence of the whole creation, Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter into thy Master's joy.

AN ENIGMA.

SO let it be, e'er the Creator spoke,
Whence Sun, Moon, Stars, Earth, Sea, their Beings took;
I did exist,—I have existence still.
And on this wretched globe shall live, until
The last tremendous trumpet shall be blown,
To summon all before the heavenly throne. In

In Heaven I was, when th' Angels did rebel,
 I egg'd them on, and caus'd their doom to Hell.—
 In Eden I, when Abel there was slain,
 Urg'd to that horrid fact accur'd Cain.
 I ever since on Earth like Crimes commit;
 Where Adam's race do all to me submit.—

 Draws the unthinking multitude along?
 That feeds with faithless hopes, and flatters still
 The poor deluded wretch the means to kill?
 Men call her false, inconstant, cruel, vain,
 Yet seek her favours with unwearied pain.

 With expectation of a better day
 Th' ambitious court her smiles; only the wife
 Do her and all her gilded pomp despise;
 For all that she presents; more light we find
 Than air or froth; more wav'ling than the wind.
 A fair, kingdom, a fantastic good;
 Remote, alluring; nothing, nearer view'd.

"The love of same how we'er conceal'd by art,
Reigns more or less, and grows in every heart:
The proud to gain it, toils on toils endure;
The modest shun it but to make it sure."

This is that phantom which allures mankind,
Gives resolution—regulates the mind.

The Address of a Lady's SCULL to its female Visitants.

BLUSH not ye fair to own me !——but be wise,
Nor turn from sad mortality your Eyes.
Fame says, (and fame alone can tell how true)
I—once—was lovely and belov'd like you.
Where are my Votaries ? where my flatterers now ?
Fled with the subject of each Lover's vow.
Adieu the roses red, and lillies white !
Adieu those Eyes that made the darkness light !
No more alas ! those coral Lips are seen,
No longer breathes the fragrant gale between.
Turn from your mirror, and behold in me,
At once what thousands can't, or dare not see.
Survey me well, ye fair ones ! and believe
The grave may terrify, but can't deceive.
On beauty's brittle State no more depend ;
Here youth and pleasure, age and sorrow end :
Here drops the mask, here shuts the final scene,
Nor differs grave threescore from gay fifteen.
All press alike to the same goal,—the Tomb,
Where wrinkled Laura smiles at Cloe's bloom.
When Coxcombs flatter, and when fools adore,
Here learn the lesson to be vain no more.
Yet virtue still against decay shall arm,
And even lend mortality a Charm.

A Caution.

SPEAK not ill of an enemy, for it will hurt thee in the opinion of the hearers, whether they believe thee an open enemy or a professed friend : For in the one case, the credit of what thou sayest will be destroyed by thy supposed enmity ; and in the other, by thy supposed treachery.

A Paradox.

THERE are two places on this globe of earth, which lie in the same latitude, and yet the nearest way from one to the other, is to sail 200 leagues directly north,
and as many south.

From the celebrated Mr. PENN's Rules for the Choice of a WIFE.

IF much of her time is destroyed by dress and adornments; if she is enamoured with her own beauty, and delighted with her own praise; if she laugheth much, and talketh loud; if her foot abideth not in her father's house, and her eyes with boldness rove on the faces of men; though her beauty were as the sun in the firmament of heaven, turn thy face from her charms, turn thy feet from her paths, and suffer not thy soul to be ensnared by the allurements of thy imagination.

But when thou findest sensibility of soul, joined with softness of manners; and an accomplished mind, with a form agreeable to thy fancy; take her home to thy house; she is worthy to be thy friend, thy companion in life, and the wife of thy bosom. —

A Cure for a Consumption.

The following simple cure for that unhappy, wasting disorder, the Consumption has been communicated by an Inhabitant of South Carolina, where it has proved successful in some very dangerous cases; and has lately administered to the relief of several persons in the State of Pennsylvania, as we are informed by Mr. Gill, in his Continental Journal of Aug 8, 1782; and was by him taken from a Philadelphia paper of July 31, 1782.

TAKE the bark of the small wild cherry-tree, and of the low land beach-tree (not button-wood) equal quantities, of which make a strong decoction; give a pint thereof per day, in several potions; or more, if the stomach will bear it; and to render it more palatable, it may be mixed with a little weak toddy or tea [a little rum put into it will do altogether as well as toddy] as may be agreeable to the patient. And altho' a few days use of it may occasion sensible alterations for the better in the afflicted person yet this course must be persisted in at least three months, to render the cure effectual.

On the Marriage of Mr. WISS to Miss NOVICE.

LET drones, averse to marriage state,
It's sacred rights despise;
It brings most certain, all that's great,
and makes a Novice Wife.
